“ At Keith Hardware, Art was so much a frequent and valued customer and friend, that he was the only customer I remember that wrote his own tickets. For many years after we had computerized, we continued to have ticket books for frequent customers to minimize the computer generated invoices. Art knew where his ticket book was, and would frequently come in and get what he needed, and write it in his ticket book and leave to get back to what he was working on. As far as I can remember he was the only customer with this special status. He will always have a special place in our memories and we are all better for having known our dear friend Art.

“ Many heartfelt sympathies to family and friends of Art , who must have been deeply loved by many. The Smith family remains in my heart and thoughts along with countless others who enjoyed Velma/Art and the incredible family they created....may the special and beautiful moments shared with Art calm some of the sadness of this time. Much love to Velma and family, Carolyn Cahoon Watts

“ It is hard to think of him as Art since I only knew him as Tootie since we were children. He was a good looking little guy and I have no memory of him misbehaving. We were 1st cousins and only with each other at Grandma Crittenden's when I was young.

It is with sadness for his family to learn of his passing. My heart and prayers for Velma and the rest.
