“ Most memories where in church setting where Birch was always polite, putting others first and always willing to lend a helping hand as needed. A very nice and respectable young man who will always be remembered as a friend.

“ Growing up, Birch was my best friend and confidant. We would spend anywhere from a few minutes to 5 hours talking on the phone everyday. He understood things. As adults, we lost that connection but it didn't stop him from always being polite, smiling and engaging in conversations. He loved and cared about his family, friends and his animals. He wouldn't say he loved you, he'd always say, see you later.
