“ My memories of my Dad is when he would take me with him when I was out of school on spring break or summer break this one year he was working for trucking company so we traveled went to Louisiana and stopped at Cajun chicken had a special 6 piece chicken dinner but it wasn't chicken it was alligator. .then headed to N.York and when to Time Square an went to the Statue of Liberty and then to Niagara Falls and road made of the mist which just blew my mind cause I had on shorts and froze.and then we went to Virginia Beach and after their we went to the 5 Great Lakes went to Mount Rush More.then we had to threw the Petrified Forest on our way we drove threw the Mohave Dessert then after their we went to San Francisco to see the Golden Gate Bridge and we could see Alcatraz then we headed home and stayed at the Navaho Reservation and headed home this was the best trip I have every had seeing all these places that I thought I would never see. The next time he had a run we went to Arizona to Uncle James and went to Old Mexico trigger fishing and saw a guy get stung buy a sting ray oh what fun I had I will never forget all the things we did I love you Dad and will miss you very much may you rest in peace thank you for teaching me and my brothers the skills to play pool and to do wood work.until we meet again

“ I have so many memories of the entire Taylor family. We lived close to them as we were all growing up, going to school, & often worked with them. Roy was the Taylor sibling that was my age, I remember him & how he loved playing basketball at Georgetown School. The whole family was very hard working & always willing to help out where needed. We were all just country farm kids that enjoyed staying busy. I am thankful for all the wonderful memories.
